What I behold is

     enough
of grace. The customary days blur. We

          net what after-

     glow becomes us.